INDIANA TAKES LEAD IN TRADE MOVEMENT

Formation of Pan American Association First Step in Extension of Commerce.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 28.—With hundreds of millions of dollars worth of orders already placed in the United States by European nations now at war and millions more to come from the same source, all unutilized, a gigantic movement to reach out for additional millions in commerce and trade with the enormously rich South American countries has been launched with intense earnestness.

Indiana today leaped into the foreground in the latter enterprise by the incorporation of the Pan American Trade association, with a capital stock of $100,000, to be devoted to the establishment of coliseum and exposition buildings for the display of American products in the principal cities of the South American republics. The incorporators are Royd M. Ralston, James A. Houck, Gilbert Hendren, Thomas Taggart, Charles A. Bookwalter and N. M. Bachelder, Indianapolis, and Ewen N. Wolcott, of Marion.

"One United States senator assured me that if the plan suggested by Dr. Albert Hale, commercial attaché to Argentina, is generally adopted, there will be no idle factory wheels in the United States," said Mr. Ralston today.

All invited to join. Persons in all parts of the United States are invited to take part in the Indiana movement.

The stupendous magnitude of the demands on American industries resulting from the European war may be faintly comprehended from a few of the more important items:

Chicago merchants and manufacturers have received orders for $150,000,000 worth of goods for Europe.

American industries are called upon for enormous supplies of cigars for the wounded soldiers.

Over 1,000,000 sets of harness have been contracted for, to be shipped across the Atlantic.

The demand for canned meats and hides is enormous. The tinplate industry benefits incidentally.

Russia has negotiated for 200 locomotives.

The barbed wire mills of the American Steel and Wire Co. have been compelled to increase their forces until now 80 per cent are employed.

More than 100,000 barrels of oil have been engaged.

Powder mills are working night and day.

The hosiery, leather, shoe and machinery industries are being overtaxed. Some shoe factories have refused foreign orders because of the domestic trade demands.

Cotton is being exported in unexpected quantities.

The meat packing houses in Chicago are working night and day with thousands of extra men employed.

Orders have been flashed broadcast to agents to scour their territories for beef for canning purposes.

One Philadelphia concern has an order for 200,000 blankets.

A Pittsburgh coal company is entertaining a proposition for 300,000 tons of coal to be delivered within a twelve-month.

Automobile trucks valued at a cool $1,900,000 are being made for the Russian government.

The foregoing constitutes but a small portion of the business already in sight, and the war has just fairly begun.

Trade experts predict that the greatest wave of industrial prosperity the United States has ever experienced will upon the nation before next spring.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 28.—School teachers of Indiana today strongly endorsed the newly established custom of holding conventions in October instead of during the holiday holidays by flocking into Indianapolis in unusually large numbers from all over the state to attend the annual meeting of the Indiana Teachers' association, which opens tomorrow for a three-days' session.

Stone of Purdue university, president, will preside at the opening meeting in Tomlinson hall, when Rabbi Stephen S. Wise of New York will be the principal speaker. His subject will be "The Task of a Teacher in a Democracy."

The program for the convention promises extraordinary opportunities.

THURSDAY TO BE RETAILERS' DAY IN WHOLE STATE

Concerted Effort Will be Made Throughout Indiana to Promote the Sale of Home Manufactured Products.

Thursday will be "Retailers' Day" in Indiana.

For the first time in the history of the state a concerted effort will be made to promote the trade of Indiana made products. Every merchant will make an effort to boost the Indiana manufacturers' goods and it is believed it will mean a new stimulus in business enterprises over the state.

Meetings will be held in numbers of the cities and plans will be formulated to educate people to demand products made by manufacturers at home, so that Indiana labor may be increased and Indiana laborers better paid.

This is the initial day of a campaign to cover several weeks during which time an effort will be made to get all people to boost Indiana trade. On Nov. 17 at a simultaneous hour dinners will be served in practically every city in the state to retailers, manufacturers and business men.

Trade at Home Slogan. "Trade-at-Home" will be the slogan that will on that date waive from the state boundary lines of Indiana and as a result Indiana trade, it is thought, will develop an increased impetus.

Besides South Bend which will be one of the leading cities in the movement, among those taking an active part in the plan to promote state trade are: Elkhart, Salem, Knox, Attica, North Manchester, Crawfordsville, Bluffton, Lawrenceburg, Princeton, Muncie, Anderson, Kokomo, Vincennes, Laporte, Gary, Indianapolis, Evansville and Fort Wayne. Many other towns are planning to take part in the movement and field representatives of the state retailers' association are making a tour of the cities of the state in an effort to get the support of all.

They will visit every town in the state and where there is not some kind of an organization that can promote this plan new organizations will be effected. Individual memberships in the state association will be given to merchants in smaller towns where an organization can not be formed.

Besides the campaign being made by the state association, the department of commerce and labor has been fostering a plan of promoting the trade of all American manufacturers by instituting a similar campaign to demand American made goods. It has been asserted that numbers of people demand imported goods in preference to the same goods made in America.

It is the contention of the commerce department that the quality of the goods made at home is equal in nearly every case to that imported and every effort is being made to educate Americans to stop demanding that the products bear the foreign trade mark.

INDIAN SUMMER TO DO A COME-BACK

Don't put away the gray suit and white shoes until after Thursday, say those who think they know what the future will bring forth in the way of weather. The weather bureau promises a return of summer about Thursday, so if the thermometer persists in saying that winter has arrived for good, hold it over the stove for a few minutes and prepare to spring the summer clothes again in the near future.

South Bend, along with most of the other cities east of the Mississippi, is in the midst of a temporary cold wave, the temperature falling to 26 above zero here Tuesday. Freezing blasts are chilling all of the south and east today. The frost extended to the Gulf coast last night, which is rather unusual for this time of the year.

However, those who still retain their faith in the government's weather forecasters are looking for another stretch of Indian summer the latter part of the week. If this falls to come, a long cold spell can be expected.
